

Sellers' CHECKLIST

Imagine you're the buyer. What would you like to know before buying the item? Well, that's all you need to know to sell it.

1. Make notes on your item

Have a look at it and note the general details, e.g. condition, wear, age, size, brand and why you are selling it

NOTES

2. Take pictures

Take a picture that clearly shows your item and any flaws that there are with it. A plain background will make the picture clear. Download your picture onto your computer and save it somewhere accessible with a clear name.

PICTURE(S) NAME(S)

TIP: Use the gallery feature. Potential buyers will see a picture of your item in their search results. This greatly increases the number of viewers.

3. Write a title

Write a title that clearly describes your items and contains all the keywords that a buyer may search for when looking for your item. Think of adding the brand, colour, model, size, specifications.

TIP: Use the 55 characters available but don't waste space with adjectives. Buyers rarely search for 'beautiful'.

4. Write a description

Give as much information as possible to buyers and be honest about any flaws. You may want to include the brand, size, colours, dimensions and condition. Also add how you want to be paid, how quickly you can post the item and if you accept returns.

GENERAL TIP: If you are stuck for ideas, just check out what other sellers have written for similar items. Search on eBay as if you wanted to buy your item.

5. Package and weigh your item

Working out the cost of postage is easy once you know how and do a bit of preparation. Why not use your kitchen scales to weigh your item? Remember you will need to pack it, so allow for a little extra weight.
